

We open doors to smart homes around the globe

Technology touches so many areas of our domestic lives. Homes are becoming automated, and increasingly filled to the brim with intelligent appliances.

Yet until now, almost all consumers have chosen to secure our homes and their super-smart contents with a technology invented thousands of years ago. Times are changing, however. The old-fashioned mechanical door lock is reaching its sell-by date, and is set to be replaced... by the smart lock.

Market analysts projections show that the smart home devices business grows 2012-2020 at a similar speed as smartphones or the Internet of Things – it is all about the Connected Living trend. Telecom, Utilities, Care or Security Service Providers, and tech giants such as Samsung, Google, Amazon or Apple are all in. ASSA ABLOY is uniquely positioned to help you grow this business.
